Pulled from Darkness into His Light

Steve Black (Narrator: Erinn Stone)

Steve Black’s unusual, God-ordained circumstance began when his tire went flat on a lonely road in the Nevada desert. He soon met Erinn, an ordinary, tractor-driving wife and mother with an amazing story to tell. She asked Steve to help write her it. Pulled From the Darkness is that story.

Erinn told of being in the presence of heavenly warriors and demonic beings waging a relentless war for the souls of men and women. Steve’s first response was disbelief. But as he listened, then met her pastor and others in her church and community, he became convinced Erinn’s experiences were real.

Would God allow someone a glimpse behind the veil into the invisible spiritual world? Erinn’s experiences affirm what Scripture teaches: Our ultimate battle “is not against flesh and blood,” but rather “against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms” (Ephesians 6:12, NIV).

About the Author

Steve Black

Steve Black is a grateful follower of Jesus Christ who grew up in beautiful Western Montana. After graduating from Boston University with a degree in mass communications/public relations, he settled into a position with a government contractor in the Boston area, where he has lived for nearly thirty-three years. Steve never envisioned himself writing a book, but a flat tire in the high desert of Nevada changed everything. That unusual stop became the catalyst for his collaboration in writing this book—an experience he describes as life-altering. Steve attends church in Lexington, Massachusetts.
